

THE OLDEST DISEASE

Uncle Sam is sick. There's no real mystery about what's the matter with him. He's suffering from the oldest disease of governments. It's name is Inflation. He has a perfectly typical attack of it.

Unfortunately, Inflation is a disease of the mind as well as a disease of the national economy. The victim becomes delirious. He has illusions and delusions—like a fever victim who thinks he is well and wants to climb out of bed.

Maybe it would be better to compare Uncle Sam's present condition with that of a restless, crying youngster whose mother says: "He's just sleepy—but he doesn't know what's the matter with him!"

Inflation works a bit like sleepiness and fatigue. You can keep yourself awake or you can give up and go to bed. A cup of coffee or other stimulant will keep you awake for a time. But it takes more and more to do the trick. Finally nothing will do it—the sandman wins!

In the same way, inflation can be kept up temporarily by larger and larger doses of pump-priming. We've been doing this since 1936. The inflation, which actually began with the revaluation of the currency and the demonization of gold, back in 1934, ran out its first spurt in about two years. A couple of billion dollars in pump-priming in 1936 gave Inflation a "second wind." We had a brief boom, which played out in 1937.

The defense spending of 1940, the war spending between 1941 and 1945, the foreign relief and "Marshall Plan" spending starting in 1947, the military expenditures of the past eighteen months—these are some of the pump-primings which have been going on and which have had the effect, as a matter of economics, of keeping Old Mr. Inflation on his feet, groggy but still going.

But here is how this sort of stimulant works—just like it takes more and more coffee to keep you going, the longer you try to stay awake. Last year, to stave off a recession in a Presidential year, it took nearly forty billion dollars worth of "extra" government spending to accomplish just about the same shot-in-the-arm effect which two billions had in 1936.

Economists often speak of the "point of diminishing returns." We've certainly passed that point, so far as pump-priming's effectiveness is concerned.

There are certain unhappy facts about the subject of economics—or of political economy, as perhaps it ought always to be called.

One is that, like so many other "sciences," it has been made complicated and difficult to understand by the invention of a special language to discuss it. Actually—while most of us don't think so—there is very little about political economy which the average person couldn't "see," if he put his mind to it.

And it is, by and large, probably the most important single subject which could be taught to all the citizens of any country which is attempting to operate on a self-governing basis.

We think of wars and pestilence as the great scourges of mankind. But where they have slain by the thousands, Inflation has ruined by the millions. Inflation is an ever present threat to freedom, security, prosperity and happiness. A long list of great and powerful nations, rich in worldly goods, free and enlightened, have collapsed into misery and poverty simply because they drifted into Inflation.

Another unfortunate fact about the subject of political economy is that those who write about it and talk about it don't ordinarily look facts squarely in the face. And especially so with reference to this very question of Inflation.

Every time a new wave of Inflation gets started, those who put it in motion announce loudly: "This time we're going to control it!"

They also say, just as loudly: "This isn't really inflation."

Rarely at such a time do "economists" agree on the facts.

Now, Inflation is extremely easy to diagnose. Anyone with more than a smattering of knowledge about economics can spot it at once. One doesn't need to be a doctor to recognize a fracture of the arm or a heat prostration. Inflation is just as simple to identify.

And the further fact is that Inflation has been carefully studied and analyzed for more than 2000 years. Countless case histories have been made. And the tragic findings of all this research is that, first, Inflation CAN'T be controlled, any more than you can cure a fever with an icebag; and second, in all the history of economics, the rarest event of all has been for a government or a people, once they embarked on Inflation, to back out of it.

That's where the emotional side takes hold. People under Inflation dread the idea of "deflation" as they dread as a tired child having a tantrum dreads going to bed.

Not for any reasons in economics, but for human emotional reactions only too conspicuous in the United States today, the tendency always in Inflation is to keep it going—until Inflation in turn puts the government and the people "through the wringer."

The symptoms visible in the United States today are identical with a host of previous inflationary cycles. There are only two principal differences to be found. One is that our Inflation is a slow-motion case; it is not being "controlled," but it is being slowed down through overall government restrictions, and it is being disguised because the government has outlawed all of the "barometers" which would let the man in the street see what is being done to him. This is all part of the "Keynesian" philosophy. Keynes didn't invent a scheme to "control" Inflation, but he did invent a scheme to stretch it out over a period of years. Then a generation of rulers could be "liberal" with imaginary money—and say cheerfully to each other: "After us, the deluge!"

TOTS LINE UP FOR PLAYGROUND OPENING

Swings, See-saws, Sliding Boards, Jungle-Gym, other Equipment in Demand

SOME TAKE LUNCHES

"They were waiting for me when I arrived at 9:30 this morning," commented Charles Utz as he glanced at the scores of children romping in Bristol Recreation Park supervised playground yesterday—the opening day of the season.

At the time supervisor Utz made this remark there were nearly 200 girls and boys within the playground or just outside, enjoying themselves to their hearts content. "There was a crowd this morning; some stayed most of the day; and others arrived this afternoon" volunteered Mr. Utz.

Some of the girls took their baby brothers or sisters, leading them by the hand or pushing them in baby strollers; some of the boys took their dogs. And a good time was had by all.

From 9:30 in the morning until 9:30 last evening the playground was a popular place. It will remain open during those hours every day this summer, except on Sundays.

There wasn't a swing but what was in use; and the three chair-swings for tiny tots were occupied all the time, the motive power being supplied by older brothers or sisters or by parents. The jungle-gym was as swarmed with boys at all hours, and frequently with girls.

See-saws in gay red and yellow paint kept bobbing up and down with their human cargo; and constantly limber bodies could be seen rushing down the sliding boards.

Outside of the enclosure boys were engaged in games of soft-ball; the basketball court was in use; some were pitching quoits, others horseshoes.

The kiddies were lined up 12-deep at the water fountain most of the day; the hot weather and exercise making all thirsty.

There were a few who left home in the morning with lunches under their arms to be eaten in the shade of the trees.

Assisting Mr. Utz with the young charges are Elaine Kwochka and James Marshall.

MORRISVILLE BRIDGE TO REOPEN FRIDAY

Closed for Past 2½ Months To Permit Repairs to Delaware Span

HAD WORK STOPPAGE

MORRISVILLE, June 28—The Calhoun street bridge, spanning the Delaware river, and linking this borough with Trenton, N. J., is to re-open to traffic on Friday morning.

The bridge has been closed for about 2½ months to permit carrying out of badly-needed repairs. A new steel floor has been placed on the main part of the bridge, and new wooden sidewalk for pedestrians.

The N. A. K. Bugbee firm carried out terms of the contract.

The work is said to have been delayed for six weeks because of a recent strike by local iron-workers. The job was to have been completed by mid-May. At the time of the work stoppage the task was about half completed.

Traffic has been re-routed over the lower bridge.

Bible School Students Take Part in Exercises

CROYDON, June 28—Commencement exercises were held in Wilkins Methodist Church hall, Friday evening, following completion of Bible School which had been in session for two weeks.

Prayer was offered by Ralston Hedrick, superintendent of the Sunday School; the hymn, "In the Hour of Trial," was sung; and sentence prayers were offered by the children. "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us," was sung. A prayer was offered by the Rev. Vernon Murray, pastor. Mr. Hedrick welcomed the gathering, and expressed thanks to the teachers and helpers. Doran Edwards, Jr., addressed the group on behalf of the young people of the church. Each class then recited verses they had learned. Two accordion solos were played, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," Pauline Bellerby; and "Sweet Hour of Prayer," Harry Smith, Jr. The children sang choruses.

Certificates were awarded to those scholars who had attended for at least eight sessions and had given satisfactory class work and attention.

The staff of the school consisted of: the Rev. Vernon Murray, dean; Mrs. George Cornwell, registrar; Miss Mae Edwards, organist and pianist; Mrs. Ralston Hedrick, Mrs. Doran Edwards, Miss Gloria Wilkie, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. William Parel, Mrs. Henrietta Gross, Mrs. Charles Hamm, Mrs. Raymond Clark, Mrs. Elizabeth Abnett, Doran Edwards, Jr., John Meyers, Ralston Hedrick, Jr., Mrs. Morris Shifferstine, Mrs. Margaret Snyder, Beverly Shifferstine, Mrs. Perkins, teachers. ## DURHAM AND BRISTOL SECTIONS HARD HIT

Lighter Soils Of Those Areas Struck by The Lengthy Drought

PASTURES WITHER

According to Bucks County agent William E. Greenwalt, the drought of the past month has hit the hardest the sections where soil is lightest—mainly in Bristol and Durham areas.

Although some farmers throughout the county have started to haul water for cattle, there is no dire distress, he adds. Pastures in many sections are withering with the diminishing water supplies.

Lawns are suffering in general throughout the county, as well as crops.

With weeds and grass drying, firemen in various parts are being called from time to time to fight grass fires.

One reason for most farmers not being called upon to haul water for cattle, is that they no longer depend upon dug wells, but in most instances have artesian wells.

The last drought of any proportions in this county is listed as during October-November, 1947, which was followed by a day and a night of soaking rain.

TO PAY RESPECTS

Jail Terms, Fines for Talbots

Philadelphia—A former Bristol wool manufacturer and his son received jail terms today on charges they defrauded the Government of $279,975 in income taxes in 1943 and 1944.

Each was also fined $5,000. In pronouncing sentence, Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey denounced the defendants for what he described as their "arrogance and flagrant disrespect of the Internal Revenue Code."

Judge Ganey said that neither man had given "any evidence of repentance or sign of contrition, but seemed to have taken the attitude 'The— with it. I won't pay. I'd rather go to jail because if I paid, we wouldn't have anything left for ourselves.'"

Joseph S. Talbot, 57, and his son, George, 31, operated the now-closed Talbot Worsteds Mills Co. during the war.

The elder Talbot was sentenced to six months and his son to four months.

Both men waived defense to the income tax evasion charges when they were arraigned before U. S. Judge J. Cullen Ganey on June 7.

Federal agents accused the Talbots of deriving most of their combined income of $442,597 from blackmarket operations.

The father admitted engaging in "illegal operations" in the wool market, but claimed his profits came to no more than $90,000. Talbot said the remainder of the "under-the-table" payments went to a Boston wool dealer for illegal over-the-ceiling prices for hard to get merchandise.

Seven companies controlled by the Talbots, now residents of Arizona, have folded since the end of the war.

The elder Talbot testified that he paid "premiums" ranging from 25 to 40 cents a pound to the Boston wool broker, his chief source of supply for foreign wool.

Indicted last Sept. 8, the Talbots were charged with filing false personal income tax returns and a fraudulent company return. Talbot, the father, was president of the company and his son was secretary.

The company report for 1943 gave the taxable income for that year as $33,683, on which it paid taxes of $18,381.

Actually, the Government charged, the total income was $181,634 on which the taxes should have been $145,307. The "false" report effected an evasion of $126,925, the Government charged.

The elder Talbot was accused of personal evasion of $125,602 during 1943-44, and the son's evasion at $127,447 for the two years. The Talbot family was widely known in the textile industry for years. Talbot said the family moved to Arizona because of the illness of his wife.

"CROSSING" POST OFFICE IS GUTTED BY A NIGHT FIRE

Amount of Loss in Stamps, Money, Equipment Not Yet Estimated

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Springer Spaniel Overcome By Smoke; 2 Canaries Also Rescued

WASHINGTON CROSSING, June 28—Firemen from Yardley, Pa., and Titusville, N. J., put up a strong battle last night to prevent loss of and serious damage to the Washington Crossing post office. During their battle they rescued a dog, a female springer spaniel, which was overcome with smoke, reviving the dog on the rear porch; and also took to safety two canaries.

The exact loss as far as cash and stamps is concerned had not been determined at mid-morning, according to Miss M. Barbara Markley, post-mistress, who with her mother resides in the two-story stone building. The post office is located in a room on the first floor. Some mail and postal equipment are also said to have been prey of the flames.

When the fire was discovered, Miss Markley and her mother were out, they having accompanied a guest to Trenton, N. J. Upon returning home they found the firemen clearing up debris. Approximately 1,000 persons were attracted by the blaze, the building being located in Washington Crossing Park.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, states Miss Markley, who adds that the fire seemed to be concentrated at the outside wall of the room housing the post office. The post office was gutted; and slight water and smoke damage caused to the dwelling section which contains six rooms.

Edward Curtis, who resides next door to the post office, discovered the fire, and it was to his home that firemen took the canaries and the spaniel. "Holly," "Holly" was rescued by Elmer Heckman, a Yardley fireman. Curtis is district commercial manager of the Bell Telephone Co. of New Jersey.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

The appointment of Mrs. Perle Mesta to diplomatic rank is an object lesson to other career girls.

Here is a little woman who rose above abject wealth . . . literally pulling herself up by her own ropes of pearls.

But her departure from Washington will leave a great void which can be filled only by some other potential stateswoman of unlimited funds.

Anyway it's nice to know that our affairs in Luxembourg will be in soft hands.

And Mrs. Mesta's appointment must not be thought of as political patronage . . . she happened to be one of the few persons who know where in Luxembourg.

The only sad note is that dozens of hopeful young men have been taking basic training in striped pants and along come the women aspirants for office. First it was the barbershop, then the saloons, now the State Department.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Alger Hiss, under cross-examination yesterday at his trial for perjury, admitted nine instances in which his testimony at the trial differed from that at other interrogations. None of the discrepancies went to the heart of the charges against him. The cross-examination of Mr. Hiss will continue today.

Both sides rested in the espionage trial of Judith Coplon. The court denied several defense motions for dismissal and the case may go to the jury tomorrow.

The Supreme Court, which handed down 17 decisions in ending its term, dismissed the perjury conviction of Harold R. Christoffel, a former CIO leader, in a 5-to-4 ruling. The court agreed to review the conviction for contempt of Congress of Eugene Dennis, Communist party official, and laid aside review of a similar verdict against Gerhart Eisler.

Four substitute plans for the Administration's housing bill were defeated in the House and Democratic leaders were confident of easy victory for the measure, probably tonight. Senator Tobey, at a conference of New England Republican leaders, denounced the opposition of House Minority Leader Martin to a housing bill.

Close votes are expected in the Senate on proposals to handle national emergency strikes. Senator Lucas said President Truman did not object to his plan to eliminate injunctions but retain Government seizure of struck plants, and Senator Taft promised to vote against his own amendment calling for both if the Lucas proposal were carried. Senate Democratic leaders decided to push through part of the farm program.

During the first six months of this year Government unemployment benefits provided more than $1,000,000,000 with which to cushion joblessness; unemployment is still growing.

Twenty-four Democratic and 37 Republican Senators petitioned their floor leaders for an early test on a proposal to direct the President to cut appropriations from 5 to 10 per cent.

Britain's gold and dollar shortage brought several developments. The Cabinet's Policy Committee supported the stand of Chancellor of the Exchequer Cripps against yielding to ECA demands for easing intra-European trade financing. The matter will be discussed at the Paris meeting of the Marshall Plan. Continued on Page Two

IMPASSE AT BERLIN

At Paris the Russians—who are completely bereft of morality or veracity—granted that Britain, France and the United States have the right of access to Berlin. The official communique issued at the end of the conference declared that the New York Agreement, which provided for removal of the Russian blockade, should be maintained. It also acknowledged an obligation on the part of all four—why four?—powers to restore traffic in Berlin and between the capital and the occupation zones.

So it would seem that it would be logical to look to Berlin for light on what the Paris meeting accomplished. But Berlin presents a spectacle so confused that it is clear the bolsheviks are at least slow in living up to their agreement. Barge and truck traffic has been restored but the rail strike that began when the conference opened is still on, so that no trains are moving from the western occupation zones into the city. The result is that Berlin is still largely dependent on the airlift.

In effect, then, the blockade has been lifted only in part. To some extent, of course, Western occupation authorities are responsible for continuation of the rail strike. They have had truck with union leaders who have repeatedly demonstrated that they are anything but reliable.

Probably the impasse will be broken in time, but there is no assurance of that—nor assurance that there will not be a new one.

TITO'S ACT

Marshal Tito let himself go when he learned about the understanding on Austria reportedly reached in Paris by the Big Four ministers. He wasn't satisfied to have the Yugoslav foreign office denounce the agreement in the customary terms. The statement had to contain what the West obviously was supposed to regard as a deadly insult for Soviet Russia.

One of the harshest terms in the communist vocabulary is "imperialist." Communists in Washington, New York and Moscow constantly hurl the epithet. That is what Tito now accuses Russia of engaging in — imperialism.

Apparently Tito has given up hope of ever obtaining anything from the Kremlin and thinks he can sell his nuisance value to the United States for a handout. But it is difficult to see how he hopes to do this by attacking an agreement to which the United States as well as Moscow is a party.

At any rate, the buccannery Slay, who has been on both sides during his despotic reign, seems to want to give the impression that Moscow isn't so formidable as she wants the world to believe, that the men in the Kremlin are twirps.

Russians promise to do better in the future, and when the Kremlin boys make a promise, watch out!

The other principal difference between our present cycle of inflation and the cycles which economists have dissected from the past, is that ours covers more territory than most previous ones. There are three principal types of inflation—Commodity inflation, which is the same as Price Inflation, and is the doctrine of "planned scarcity"; Currency inflation, which means pouring printing press money or greenbacks into circulation with no tangible assets to redeem them; and Credit inflation, which means spending borrowed money without adequate provision for repaying the debt.

Most previous instances of inflation used only one or two of these. We are using them all. From the days of slaughtered pigs and plowed-under corn, we have had a parade of real and artificial scarcities which have steadily inflated prices. Our "money" is some $22 billions of fiat or promissory note currency. And national credit has been drawn upon for the surplus earnings of several generations to come; the money has been spent—only the debt remains.

Would you like to read a story of inflation, telling just how one form of it works, who does it and why, and who it is who suffers—and would you like to read it in non-scientific language in a book that wasn't written to be a text-book on economics?

The best-known history of commodity or price inflation ever presented, is in the Bible. It is the story of Joseph and Egypt's wheat. It's in the Book of Genesis. Start with Chapter 39 and read through Chapter 47. This will give you a new understanding of what has been happening to the United States for several years past, and will show you a side of the so-called "New Deal" which perhaps you never thought about before.

For seven "fat" years, Joseph and Pharaoh hoarded wheat. They cornered the supply. Then when the "lean" years brought famine, they squeezed. They drove food prices up to the point where the populations of Egypt were forced to give up their money, their cattle and their farms merely buying enough to keep them from starvation. Note also that this transaction had its side quite similar to the New Deal. Pharaoh undoubtedly thought that he was a great humanitarian—wasn't he on hand to furnish wheat and keep people from starving?

Note also that as you read on in the Bible you discover that no one really benefited from this instance of Commodity Inflation. The people of Egypt were ruined. They lost everything, became "Pharaoh's servants" (Genesis XLVII, 25), and thereafter showed exceedingly little enterprise or will to work. But Pharaoh bought himself endless trouble. And as for Joseph and the children of Israel—how did they fare? One would think that the man who had engineered the scheme by which the Pharaohs became owners of everything in Egypt might have been able to guarantee economic position to his own associates. However, presently there arose another king, "which knew not Joseph," and who made the lives of the children of Israel "bitter with hard bondage" (Exodus 1).

The fact is that Egypt was generations recovering from this and similar instances of inflation—they cost her her leadership, and left the carrying of civilization's torch to the hands of other races—the Babylonians, the Greeks, etc.

If the subject of inflation interests you, there are two other much-studied cases which resemble even more closely the current wave of it. One is the record of Diocletian in Rome, about 300 A. D., a dose of "controlled" inflation (currency and commodity) which broke the back of the Roman Empire and plunged civilization into the 1000-year-long Dark Ages.

The other is that outstanding instance of inflation defying the "control" of acknowledged financial experts, the Inflation in the baby Republic of France, 1793 to 1797.

Read either of these carefully—and see if you don't find yourself saying, from time to time: "Why, that's just where I came in!"

JEFFERSON A. C. TAKES 1ST PLACE IN THE CIRCUIT

Another hurling duel took place in the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening as "Johnny" Giambelli outpitched two Franklin hurlers to enable Jefferson A. C. to take first place in the circuit. Final count of the game was: Jefferson, 3; Franklin, 1.

Giambelli allowed the Franklin team but four scattered hits and would have had a shutout but for the fact that he uncorked a wild pitch in the fifth that let "Toby" Oriola be in a position to score.

"Jim" Brescia and "Reggie" Gerome did the hill work for Franklin with the defeat going to Gerome. Brescia hurled the last inning. Jefferson jumped into the lead in its first turn with the stick on a double by Steve Clotti, a two-bagger by Tony Cauti and an error by "Jim" Ransom. Its second tally was the result of a walk to John Cordisco, a single by Ed Hunter, and walks to Sam Imperato and Tommy Ruggieri. The walk to Ruggieri forced Cordisco over the plate with a run.

Both teams did some good fielding, Jefferson having credit for two double plays, and Franklin one twin-killing.

Steve Clotti was the only player in the tilt having more than one hit.

HARD-FOUGHT GAME WON BY 2ND WARD

Fleeting Estates rallied in the final inning but fell one run short of deadlocking the score last evening in a hard-fought contest on the Estates' field. Final score saw the Second Ward A. C. victorious by the short count of 7-5.

Estates had one run across and the bags still loaded when "Chick" Stansky fanned Claude Camilucci for the final out of the game. Stansky had retired the first two batters but "Mike" Graveur, Frank Balazs, Earl Kennedy and Barnes made successive hits for a run. But Camilucci failed in the clutch.

"Mike" Angelo started on the mound for Second Ward and was relieved by Stansky. Graveur and Tony Zanni pitched for the losing team. Second Ward had ten hits in the tilt with the losers getting nine. Frank Chichiletti had three out of three to lead the batters of the game while Balazs had two out of three for Estates.

Estates showed a vast improvement in its playing and indications are that the tail-enders will cause plenty of trouble as the third round of the Bristol Suburban League gets under way.

3 Squeeze Plays Aid In St. James' Victory

Three squeeze plays enabled St. James to defeat Bristol Presbyterian in a Lower Bucks County Church Softball League game last evening.

The first one occurred in the first inning when Hart was squeezed in by Spencer. In the third inning, Hart doubled home Vandegrift, who had walked, and after reaching third base on an infield out, he was again squeezed home by Spencer. Spencer advanced to third on two consecutive wild pitches and was squeezed home by "Jack" Bailey. St. James' last run was scored when "Bill" Foltz singled to drive in "Ducky" DeLong.

Presbyterian scored its lone run in the second inning when Charlie Fischer tripled to right field and scored on Bowen's fly to deep center.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Democrats In '52

Washington, June 28.—THOUGH soon after election last year Mr. Truman did indicate he would not run again, there is nothing to prevent a man from changing his mind. If things seem propitious it is by no means sure he will not go after a third term. Nor is there anything to prevent him from getting the nomination if he wants it. The ridiculous collapse of the opposition to him in the last convention, with its silly draft Eisenhower or Douglas ballyhoo, was sufficiently complete to make it clear that a sitting President can always nominate himself. This has been demonstrated so often in our history that it ought to be plain now even to the second-rate amateur politicians who tried to throw Mr. Truman out of the ring a year ago.

NOTWITHSTANDING this, the general belief among Democratic politicians is that he definitely has made up his mind not to be a candidate. This accounts for the number of more or less notable citizens obviously afflicted with an acute desire for the 1952 nomination. Guy as they may be, most of them are being well advertised by their friends as presidential candidates and none can be called uncooperative. One among these is the windy and aggressive, not to say pushing, Chester Bowles, now Governor of Connecticut, once director of the OPA and a very loudly professing "liberal" indeed. Another is the more modest and attractive Adlai Stevenson, Governor of Illinois, also a "liberal" though not so loud a one. He carried his State last year by an unprecedented majority, pulling Mr. Truman and the rest of the Democratic candidates through, thus contributing greatly to the national success.

HOWEVER, the two generally regarded as most formidable are Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and Supreme Court Justice W. O. Douglas. The present pose of these two cagey gentlemen is that the thought of running for the presidency has never entered their minds. But the pose is extremely unconvincing. Take the case of Mr. Johnson. A shrewd politician, he is well aware his only chance of being nominated lies in obtaining Mr. Truman's support. So long as Mr. Johnson remains in the field Mr. Johnson is blocked, and any suspicion of disloyalty to his Chief would be devastating. If and when Mr. Truman eliminates himself, his support still would be Mr. Johnson's first essential. Clearly, there is nothing much he now can do to promote the presidential aspirations of most of his friends and all Washington observers are quite sure he cherishes. Nevertheless, in certain ways he seems to behave unmistakably like a candidate.

ONE of these is in the assiduity with which he cultivates selected newspaper and radio commentators. To quote a few of these at small, unadvertised luncheons and dinners he has in his engaging way, "revealed all." Another is his willingness to address relatively unimportant gatherings at which he has nothing particular to say. An example was his recent address at the Jewish - endowed university, Yeshiva, in New York. On this occasion, Mr. Johnson had no message to impart, the new to present and no great thought to express. His speech was one hundred per cent laudation of the university and the Jewish people—a typical candidate's performance. Though Mr. Douglas's position would seem to require less activity and more aloofness from politics, he is the most open of the nomination seekers. Beginning with his client's political speech before the CIO convention some months ago, there has been a series of significant happenings, all of which show him in the light of an active aspirant. It is no secret that his colleagues on the Supreme Court so regard him—some of them with sharp disapproval. He has followed his CIO performance with his client's address at a Supreme Court justice is, to say the least, unusual—such, for example, as the recent World Federalists meeting in New York.

A FEW weeks ago it was publicly announced that Mr. Douglas had prepared a booklet containing his collected speeches, and was sending autographed copies to influential Democrats in various parts of the country. Finally, there was his extraordinary dissenting opinion in the Standard Oil case which was widely interpreted as a political appeal. Parts of it did sound like the ranting against trusts and monopolies of an old-time demagogue of the William Jennings Bryan era. It could easily form the basis of a party platform designed to appeal to the glibbly masses. In addition, Mr. Douglas's friends of the Americans for Democratic

Action and his ever loyal band of newspaper boosters are working earnestly to keep his name before the public. It is an interesting situation. Except among the ADA and the CIO there is no political support for Mr. Douglas. And, in the country as a whole, there is no discernible public sentiment for him. The 1952 convention is nearly three years off and in that time he might be built into a "great national figure," though not many realistic politicians think so.

BUT he is running and his friends are working with that end in view. Some feel the Douglas candidacy degrades the Supreme Court and violates its best traditions; but his friends regard that as just old fashioned. One thing about his candidacy seems fairly sure—perhaps he can get along without it but it is highly improbable he will ever get any support from Mr. Truman. Last year, when the odds were heavily against his election, Mr. Douglas turned down a personal request to run on the ticket with him. That is not the sort of thing Mr. Truman forgets. Or any other man, for that matter.

Candlelight Ceremony Marks Installation of Officers

NEWTOWN, June 28—A candlelight installation ceremony was in order when members of Newtown Century Club gathered at the end of the week, Miss Joanne Gallagher, third vice president of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs, was in charge.

While the retiring officers held lighted candles, the ceremony was conducted by Miss Gallagher.

New officers are as follows: president, Mrs. Robert Thilo; vice president, Mrs. Stanley Sutton, Jr.; recording secretary, Mrs. Grace Baker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Amos Kirk; and treasurer, Miss Ruth Luff.

The club decided to donate part of the proceeds of the lawn fete to Newtown Recreation Center, and to send a check to the band of Council Rock High School.

Throughout the past year the club has contributed $250 to civic and welfare organizations. A large portion of this was given to the Girl Scout troops sponsored by the juniors. Members of the club also took part in the drive for the Salvation Army. It also has been interested in the March of Dimes.

In addition to sponsoring the local Girl Scout troops, the club plans to sponsor a Brownie troop in the fall.

Jane knew she was right. There could be no doubt about it. And so she reached for words which would stamp her position absolutely trustworthy. "It's the gospel truth!" she exclaimed.

Unfortunately, many people are willing to parrot that explanation without ever stopping to ask: What really is the Gospel truth?

The Gospel of which the Bible speaks is the good news of the love of God as shown by the birth, life, and death of His only-begotten Son.

And that Gospel is the truth.

VOLTZ PLAYERS EASILY SUBDUE THE EDEGLY NINE

The Voltz-Texaco team, which finished the first half in a deadlock for first place, slam-banged the Edgely A. C. into submission last evening as the second half race of the Bristol Suburban League got under way. Score of the tilt, played on Memorial Park field, was 10-4.

The Voltz-men had a total of 10 hits off "Al" Foster and "Jake" Accardi with Alex Dewsnap leading the batters with three out of four. Hargre Saxton was the starting hurler for the gasmen and when he began to weaken in the third was replaced with Paul Leighton. Leighton was given credit for the win.

After "Easy" Mama had drilled a hit to left to score Ralph Linck and Joe Elmer to give Edgely a 2-0 lead, Voltz-Texaco came back to score a quintet of markers on walks to Morrell and Dave Ludwig and Dewsnap's infield single, and "Sid" Pursell's double. The latter's blow cleaned the bases. Pappaterra followed with a hit and Pursell's fly on an infield play. Cross's score to Adams scored Pappaterra.

Dave Morrell walked and stole second and scored on Dewsnap's hit in the second, while the Oilers scored again in the third when Barney Ludwig got on via an error. Another error enabled Ludwig to score. Edgely got a run back in the third as Elmer got on via an error, advanced on a wild pitch after Mama walked and counted on Felkner's slow roller to first which was beat out for a base hit.

The Edgelyites scored again in the fourth but Voltz sewed up the game by a run in the sixth and two more in the seventh.

MOOSE WIN

Bristol Moose won over Coatesville Moose at Coatesville in a softball game on Sunday. Score was 9-2. Bristol needs the next two games to win the first half.

"JACK" HAINES RAPS OUT 2 HOME-RUNS

"Jackie" Haines rapped out two home runs last evening as West Bristol A. C. won its first game of the second half of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League, downing the Lewis Lodge of Elys, 12-7, on the Bristol Township field.

Haines' first four-bagger came with two runners on base in the second inning, while his second homer came in the fifth with Heath on base. The West Bristol first-sacker also had a single to his credit and scored three runs, making him responsible for one-half of the winners' runs.

"Mike" Rice did the pitching chores for West Bristol and with the comfortable lead built up in the first two innings by his mates had easy sailing for the seven innings. Adams, Pollard and Leighton hurried for the losing team with Adams being charged with the loss.

1st-Half Championship To Be Decided Tonight

West Bristol A. C. and Voltz-Texaco will clash this evening on the Third Ward field to decide the first half championship of the Bristol Suburban League. Game will begin at six o'clock.

West Bristol and Voltz, finished the first half in a deadlock, each having won eight and lost two. West Bristol had a chance to clinch the first half crown if it had beaten Flannery's Eagles. But the Pentad boys tied the leaders twice and then beat them to tie the race.

Earl Wagner has been selected by "Jim" Ellis to do the pitching for West Bristol, while it is most likely that "Bill" McGerr will do the mound work for Voltz. The remainder of the lineups will be the same.

FLANNERY'S OPENS 2ND HALF WITH WIN

Flannery's Eagles, of Pennell, opened their second half schedule of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League with a 9-7 triumph over the Hibernians last evening on Leedom's field.

Flannery's won the game in the last half of the seventh inning after Jack Walker had deadlocked the score with a home run in the top half of the frame. Dick Lukens started the Flannery rally by working Joe McDevitt for a pass. He stole second and went to third when Dale Miller lifted a fly to "Chuck" Kline. "Tommy" Pursell's single to left scored Lukens.

To make victory certain, the Eagles added another marker in the eighth. "Frankie" Pursell opened with a grounder which Dolan fumbled. The runner stole second and went to third on "Clint" Pursell's fly to Kline. "Jim" Egli plastered a two-bagger to left and Frank Pursell came home.

Both pitchers, Joe McDevitt and Dale Miller, went the distance. Miller gave up nine hits, while McDevitt was touched for 12. Tommy Pursell led the batters with three out of five.

THE OLDEST DISEASE

Uncle Sam is sick. There's no real mystery about what's the matter with him. He's suffering from the oldest disease of governments. It's name is Inflation. He has a perfectly typical attack of it.

Unfortunately, Inflation is a disease of the mind as well as a disease of the national economy. The victim becomes delirious. He has illusions and delusions—like a fever victim who thinks he is well and wants to climb out of bed.

Maybe it would be better to compare Uncle Sam's present condition with that of a restless, crying youngster whose mother says: "He's just sleepy—but he doesn't know what's the matter with him!"

Inflation works a bit like sleepiness and fatigue. You can keep yourself awake or you can give up and go to bed. A cup of coffee or other stimulant will keep you awake for a time. But it takes more and more to do the trick. Finally nothing will do it—the sandman wins!

In the same way, inflation can be kept up temporarily by larger and larger doses of pump-priming. We've been doing this since 1936. The inflation, which actually began with the revaluation of the currency and the demonitization of gold, back in 1934, ran out its first spurt in about two years. A couple of billion dollars in pump-priming in 1936 gave Inflation a "second wind." We had a brief boom, which played out in 1937.

The defense spending of 1940, the war spending between 1941 and 1945, the foreign relief and "Marshall Plan" spending starting in 1947, the military expenditures of the past eighteen months—these are some of the pump-primings which have been going on and which have had the effect, as a matter of economics, of keeping Old Mr. Inflation on his feet, groggy but still going.

But here is how this sort of stimulant works—just like it takes more and more coffee to keep you going, the longer you try to stay awake. Last year, to stave off a recession in a Presidential year, it took nearly forty billion dollars worth of "extra" government spending to accomplish just about the same shot-in-the-arm effect which two billions had in 1936.

Economists often speak of the "point of diminishing returns." We've certainly passed that point, so far as pump-priming's effectiveness is concerned.

There are certain unhappy facts about the subject of economics—or of political economy, as perhaps it ought always to be called.

One is that, like so many other "sciences," it has been made complicated and difficult to understand by the invention of a special language to discuss it. Actually, while most of us don't think so—there is very little about political economy which the average person couldn't "see," if he put his mind to it.

And it is, by and large, probably the most important single subject which could be taught to all the citizens of any country which is attempting to operate on a self-governing basis.

We think of wars and pestilence as the great scourges of mankind. But where they have slain by the thousands, Inflation has ruined by the millions. Inflation is an ever present threat to freedom, security, prosperity and happiness. A long list of great and powerful nations, rich in worldly goods, free and enlightened, have collapsed into misery and poverty simply because they drifted into Inflation.

And the further fact is that Inflation has been carefully studied and analyzed for more than 2000 years. Countless case histories have been made. And the tragic findings of all this research is that, first, Inflation CAN'T be controlled, any more than you can cure a fever with an icebag, and second, in all the history of economics, the rarest event of all has been for a government or a people, once they embarked on Inflation, to back out of it.

That's where the emotional side takes hold. People under Inflation dread the idea of "deflation" just as hysterically as a tired child having a tantrum dreads going to bed.

Not for any reasons in economics, but for human emotional reactions only too conspicuous in the United States today, the tendency always in Inflation is to keep it going—until Inflation in turn puts the government and the people "through the wringer."

The symptoms visible in the United States today are identical with a host of previous inflationary cycles. There are only two principal differences to be found. One is that our Inflation is a slow-motion case; it is not being "controlled," but it is being slowed down through overall government restrictions, and it is being disguised because the government had outlawed all of the "barometers" which would let the man in the street see what is being done to him. This is all part of the "Keynesian" philosophy. Keynes didn't invent a scheme to "control" Inflation, but he did invent a scheme to stretch it out over a period of years. Then a generation of rulers could be "liberal" with imaginary money—and say cheerfully to each other "After us, the deluge!"

TOTS LINE UP FOR PLAYGROUND OPENING

SOME TAKE LUNCHES

"They were waiting for me when I arrived at 9:30 this morning," commented Charles Utz as he glanced at the scores of children romping in Bristol Recreation Park supervised playground yesterday—the opening day of the season.

At the time supervisor Utz made this remark there were nearly 200 girls and boys within the playground or just outside, enjoying themselves to their hearts content. "There was a crowd this morning; some stayed most of the day; and others arrived this afternoon" volunteered Mr. Utz.

Some of the girls took their baby brothers or sisters, leading them by the hand or pushing them in baby strollers; some of the boys took their dogs. And a good time was had by all.

From 9:30 in the morning until 9:30 last evening the playground was a popular place. It will remain open during those hours every day this summer, except on Sundays.

There wasn't a swing but what was in use; and the three chairs, swings for tiny tots were occupied all the time, the motive power being supplied by older brothers or sisters or by parents. The jungle-gym was aswarm with boys at all hours, and frequently with girls. See-saws in gay red and yellow paint kept bobbing up and down with their human cargo; and constantly limber bodies could be seen rushing down the sliding boards.

Outside of the enclosure boys were engaged in games of soft-ball; the basketball court was in use; some were pitching quoits, others horseshoes.

The kiddies were lined up 12-deep at the water fountain most of the day; the hot weather and exercise making all thirsty.

There were a few who left home in the morning with lunches under their arms to be eaten in the shade of the trees.

Assisting Mr. Utz with the young charges are Elaine Kwochka and James Marshall.

MORRISVILLE, June 28—The Calhoun street bridge, spanning the Delaware river, and linking this borough with Trenton, N. J., is to re-open to traffic on Friday morning.

Traffic has been re-routed over the lower bridge.

DURHAM AND BRISTOL SECTIONS HARD HIT

Lighter Soils Of Those Areas Struck By The Lengthy Drought

PASTURES WITHER

According to Bucks County agent William F. Greenawald, the drought of the past month has hit the hardest the sections where soil is lightest—mainly in Bristol and Durham areas.

Although some farmers throughout the county have started to haul water for cattle, there is no dire distress, he adds. Pastures in many sections are withering with the diminishing water supplies.

Lawns are suffering in general throughout the county, as well as crops.

With weeds and grass drying, firemen in various parts are being called from time to time to fight grass fires.

One reason for most farmers not being called upon to haul water for cattle, is that they no longer depend upon dug wells, but in most instances have artesian wells.

The last drought of any proportions in this county is listed as during October-November, 1917, which was followed by a day and a night of soaking rain.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Jail Terms, Fines for Talbots

Philadelphia—A former Bristol wool manufacturer and his son received jail terms today on charges they defrauded the Government of $379,975 in income taxes in 1943 and 1944.

Each was also fined $5,000.

In pronouncing sentence, Federal Judge J. Cullen Ganey denounced the defendants for what he described as their "arrogance and flagrant disrespect of the Internal Revenue Code."

Judge Ganey said that neither man had given "any evidence of repentance or sign of contrition, but seemed to have taken the attitude 'The—' with it. I won't pay. I'd rather go to jail because if I paid, we wouldn't have anything left for ourselves.'"

Joseph S. Talbot, 57, and his son, George, 31, operated the now-closed Talbot Worsted Mills Co. during the war.

The elder Talbot was sentenced to six months and his son to four months.

Both men waived defense to the income tax evasion charges when they were arraigned before U. S. Judge J. Cullen Ganey on June 7.

Federal agents accused the Talbots of deriving most of their combined income of $442,597 from blackmarket operations.

The father admitted engaging in "illegal operations" in the wool market, but claimed his profits came to no more than $90,000.

Talbot said the remainder of the "under-the-table" payments went to a Boston wool dealer for illegal over-the-ceiling prices for hard to get merchandise.

Seven companies controlled by the Talbots, now residents of Arizona, have folded since the end of the war.

The elder Talbot testified that he paid "premiums" ranging from 25 to 40 cents a pound to the Boston wool broker, his chief source of supply for foreign wool.

Indicted last Sept. 8, the Talbots were charged with filing false personal income tax returns and a fraudulent company return.

Talbot, the father, was president of the company and his son was secretary.

The company report for 1943 gave the taxable income for that year as $23,682, on which it paid taxes of $18,351.

Actually, the Government charged, the total income was $181,634 on which the taxes should have been $145,307. The "false" report effected an evasion of $128,925, the Government charged.

The elder Talbot was accused of personal evasion of $125,602 during 1943-44, and the son's evasion at $127,447 for the two years.

The Talbot family was widely known in the textile industry for years. Talbot said the family moved to Arizona because of the illness of his wife.

"CROSSING" POST OFFICE IS GUTTED BY A NIGHT FIRE

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Springer Spaniel Overcome By Smoke; 2 Canaries Also Rescued

WASHINGTON CROSSING, June 28—Firemen from Yardley, Pa., and Titusville, N. J., put up a strong battle last night to prevent loss of and serious damage to the Washington Crossing post office. During their battle they rescued a dog, a female springer spaniel, which was overcome with smoke, reviving the dog on the rear porch; and also took to safety two canaries.

The exact loss as far as cash and stamps is concerned, had not been determined at mid-morning, according to Miss M. Barbara Markley, post-mistress, who with her mother resides in the two-story stone building. The post office is located in a room on the first floor. Some mail and postal equipment are also said to have been prey of the flames.

When the fire was discovered, Miss Markley and her mother were out, they having accompanied a guest to Trenton, N. J. Upon returning home they found the firemen clearing up debris.

Approximately 1,000 persons were attracted by the blaze, the building being located in Washington Crossing Park.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, states Miss Markley, who adds that the fire seemed to be concentrated at the outside wall of the room housing the post office. The post office was gutted; and slight water and smoke damage caused to the dwelling section which contains six rooms.

Edward Curtis, who resides next door to the post office, discovered the fire, and it was to his home that firemen took the canaries and the spaniel. "Holly," "Holly" was rescued by Elmer Heckman, a Yardley fireman. Curtis is district commercial manager of the Bell Telephone Co. of New Jersey.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International News Service)

The appointment of Mrs. Perle Mesta to diplomatic rank is an object lesson to other career girls.

Here is a little woman who rose above abject wealth. . . literally pulling herself up by her own ropes of pearls.

But her departure from Washington will leave a great void which can be filled only by some other potential stateswoman of unlimited funds.

Anyway it's nice to know that our affairs in Luxembourg will be in soft hands.

And Mrs. Mesta's appointment must not be thought of as political patronage. . . she happened to be one of the few persons who know where is Luxembourg.

The only sad note is that dozens of hopeful young men have been taking basic training in striped pants and along come the women aspirants for office.

First it was the barbershop, then the saloons, now the State Department.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Alger Hiss, under cross-examination yesterday at his trial for perjury, admitted nine instances in which his testimony at the trial differed from that at other interrogations. None of the discrepancies went to the heart of the charges against him. The cross-examination of Mr. Hiss will continue today.

Both sides rested in the espionage trial of Judith Coplon. The court denied several defense motions for dismissal and the case may go to the jury tomorrow.

The Supreme Court, which handed down 17 decisions in ending its term, dismissed the perjury conviction of Harold R. Christoffel, a former CIO leader, in a 5-to-4 ruling. The court agreed to review the conviction for contempt of Congress of Eugene Dennis, Communist party official, and laid aside review of a similar verdict against Gerhart Eisler.

Four substitute plans for the Administration's housing bill were defeated in the House and Democratic leaders were confident of easy victory for the measure, probably tonight. Senator Tobey, at a conference of New England Republican leaders, denounced the opposition of a House Minority Leader Martin to a housing bill.

Close votes are expected in the Senate on proposals to handle national emergency strikes. Senator Lucas said President Truman did not object to his plan to eliminate injunctions but retain Government seizure of struck plants, and Senator Taft promised to vote against his own amendment calling for both if the Lucas proposal were carried. Senate Democratic leaders decided to push through part of the farm program.

During the first six months of this year Government unemployment benefits provided more than $1,000,000,000 with which to cushion joblessness; unemployment is still growing.

Twenty-four Democratic and 37 Republican Senators petitioned their floor leaders for an early test on a proposal to direct the President to cut appropriations from 5 to 10 per cent.

Britain's gold and dollar shortage brought several developments. The Cabinet's Policy Committee supported the stand of Chancellor of the Exchequer Cripps against yielding to ECA demands for easing intra-European trade financing. The matter will be discussed at the Paris meeting of the Marshall Plan. Continued on Page Two

IMPASSE AT BERLIN

At Paris the Russians—who are completely bereft of morality or veracity—granted that Britain, France and the United States have the right of access to Berlin. The official communique issued at the end of the conference declared that the New York Agreement, which provided for removal of the Russian blockade, should be maintained. It also acknowledged an obligation on the part of all four—why four?—powers to restore traffic in Berlin and between the capital and the occupation zones.

So it would seem that it would be logical to look to Berlin for light on what the Paris meeting accomplished. But Berlin presents a spectacle so confused that it is clear the bolsheviks are at least slow in living up to their agreement. Barge and truck traffic has been restored but the rail strike that began when the conference opened is still on, so that no trains are moving from the western occupation zones into the city. The result is that Berlin is still largely dependent on the airlift.

In effect, then, the blockade has been lifted only in part. To some extent, of course, western occupation authorities are responsible for continuation of the rail strike. They have had truck with union leaders who have repeatedly demonstrated that they are anything but reliable.

Probably the impasse will be broken in time, but there is no assurance of that—nor assurance that there will not be a new one.

TITO'S ACT

Marshal Tito let himself go when he learned about the understanding on Austria reportedly reached in Paris by the Big Four ministers. He wasn't satisfied to have the Yugoslav foreign office denounce the agreement in the customary terms. The statement had to contain what the West obviously was supposed to regard as a deadly insult for Soviet Russia.

One of the harshest terms in the communist vocabulary is "imperialist." Communists in Washington, New York and Moscow constantly hurl the epithet. That is what Tito now accuses Russia of engaging in — imperialism.

Apparently Tito has given up hope of ever obtaining anything from the Kremlin and thinks he can sell his nuisance value to the United States for a handout. But it is difficult to see how he hopes to do this by attacking an agreement to which the United States as well as Moscow is a party.

At any rate, the luccaencing Slay, who has been on both sides during his despotic reign, seems to want to give the impression that Moscow isn't so formidable as she wants the world to believe that the men in the Kremlin are twirps.

Russians promise to do better in the future, and when the Kremlin boys make a promise, watch out!

The Oldest Disease

The other principal difference between our present cycle of inflation and the cycles which economists have dissected from the past, is that ours covers more territory than most previous ones. There are three principal types of inflation—Commodity inflation, which is the same as Price inflation, and is the doctrine of "planned scarcity"; Currency inflation, which means pouring printing-press money or greenbacks into circulation with no tangible assets to redeem them; and Credit inflation, which means spending borrowed money without adequate provision for repaying the debt.

Most previous instances of inflation used only one or two of these. We are using them all. From the days of slaughtered pigs and plowed-under corn, we have had a parade of real and artificial scarcities which have steadily inflated prices. Our "money" is some $22 billions of fiat or promissory note currency. And national credit has been drawn upon for the surplus earnings of several generations to come, the money has been spent—only the debt remains.

Would you like to read a story of inflation, telling just how one form of it works, who does it and why, and who it is who suffers—and would you like to read it in non-scientific language in a book that wasn't written to be a text-book on economics?

The best-case history of commodity or price inflation ever presented is in the Bible. It is the story of Joseph and Egypt's wheat. It's in the book of Genesis. Start with Chapter 29 and read through Chapter 47. This will give you a new understanding of what has been happening to the United States for several years past, and will show you a side of the so-called "New Deal" which perhaps you never thought about before.

For seven "fat" years, Joseph and Pharaoh hoarded wheat. They cornered the supply. Then when the "lean" years brought famine, they squeezed. They drove food prices up to the point where the populations of Egypt were forced to give up their money, their cattle and their farms merely buying enough to keep them from starvation. Note also that this transaction had its side quite similar to the New Deal. Pharaoh undoubtedly thought that he was a great humanitarian—wasn't he on hand to furnish wheat and keep people from starving?

Note also that as you read on in the Bible you discover that no one really benefited from this instance of Commodity Inflation. The people of Egypt were ruined. They lost everything, became "Pharaoh's servants" (Genesis XLVII, 20), and thereafter showed exceedingly little enterprise or will to work. But Pharaoh bought himself endless trouble. And as for Joseph and the children of Israel—how did they fare? One would think that the man who had engineered the scheme by which the Pharaohs became owners of everything in Egypt might have been able to guarantee economic position to his own associates. However, presently there arose another king, "which knew not Joseph," and who made the lives of the children of Israel "bitter with hard bondage" (Exodus I).

The fact is that Egypt was generations recovering from this and similar instances of inflation—they cost her her leadership, and left the carrying of civilization's torch to the hands of other races—the Babylonians, the Greeks, etc., etc.

If the subject of Inflation interests you, there are two other much-studied cases which resemble even more closely the current wave of it. One is the record of Diocletian in Rome, about 300 A. D., a case of "controlled" inflation (currency and commodity) which broke the back of the Roman Empire and plunged civilization into the 1000-year-long Dark Ages.

The other is that outstanding instance of Inflation defying the "control" of acknowledged financial experts, the inflation in the baby Republic of France, 1789 to 1797.

Read either of these carefully—and see if you don't find yourself saying, from time to time: "Why, that's just where I came in!"

countries. Those nations were disturbed by indications that the United States, in response to pressure of American industries, might increase tariffs and abandon encouraging imports from Europe.

Britain and Argentina, although distressed by United States objections, signed a five-year bilateral trade pact. Washington, still disapproving, said Britain could not do otherwise in view of her unfavorable dollar and gold position. Czechoslovakia barred pastoral letters and meetings of Roman Catholic clergy without Government permission.

Belgian voters moved to the right in Sunday's election but failed to give the pro-Leopold Social Christians a Parliamentary majority.

JEFFERSON A. C. TAKES 1ST PLACE IN THE CIRCUIT

Another hurling duel took place in the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening as "Johnny" Giambelli outpitched two Franklin hurlers to enable Jefferson A. C. to take first place in the circuit. Final count of the game was: Jefferson, 3; Franklin, 1.

Giambelli allowed the Franklin team but four scattered hits and would have had a shutout but for the fact that he uncorked a wild pitch in the fifth that let "Toby" Oriola be in a position to score.

"Jim" Brescia and "Reggie" Gerome did the hill work for Franklin with the defeat going to Gerome. Brescia hurled the last inning.

Jefferson jumped into the lead in its first turn with the stick on a double by Steve Clotti, a two-bagger by Tony Cauti, and an error by "Jim" Ransom. Its second tally was the result of a walk to John Cordisco, a single by Ed Hunter, and walks to Sam Imperato and Tommy Ruggieri. The walk to Ruggieri forced Cordisco over the plate with a run.

Both teams did some good fielding. Jefferson having credit for two double-plays, and Franklin one twin-killing.

Steve Clotti was the only player in the tilt having more than one hit.

HARD-FOUGHT GAME WON BY 2ND WARD

Fleeting Estates rallied in the final inning but fell one run short of delecting the score last evening in a hard-fought contest on the Estates' field. Final score saw the Second Ward A. C. victorious by the short count of 7-6.

Estates had one run across and the bags still loaded when "Chick" Stansky fanned Claude Camilucci for the final out of the game. Stansky had retired the first two batters but "Mike" Graver, Frank Balazs, Earl Kennedy and Barnes made successive hits for a run. But Camilucci failed in the clutch.

"Mike" Angelo started on the mound for Second Ward and was relieved by Stansky. Graver and Tony Zanni pitched for the losing team. Second Ward had ten hits in the tilt with the losers getting nine.

Frank Chichietti had three out of three to lead the batters of the game while Balazs had two out of three for Estates.

Estates showed a vast improvement in its playing and indications are that the tail-enders will cause plenty of trouble as the third round of the Bristol Suburban League gets under way.

3 Squeeze Plays Aid In St. James' Victory

Three squeeze plays enabled St. James to defeat Bristol Presbyterian in a Lower Bucks County Church Softball League game last evening.

The first one occurred in the first inning when Hart was squeezed in by Spencer. In the third inning, Hart doubled home Vandegrift, who had walked, and after reaching third base on an infield out, he was again squeezed home by Spencer. Spencer advanced to third on two consecutive wild pitches and was squeezed home by "Jack" Bailey. St. James' last run was scored when "Bill" Foltz singled to drive in "Ducky" DeLong.

Presbyterian scored its lone run in the second inning when Charlie Fischer tripled to right field and scored on Bowen's fly to deep center.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Democrats In '52

Washington, June 28.—THOUGH soon after election last year Mr. Truman did indicate he would not run again, there is nothing to prevent a man from changing his mind. If things seem propitious it is by no means sure he will not go after a third term. Nor is there anything to prevent him from getting the nomination if he wants it. The ridiculous collapse of the opposition to him in the last convention, with its silly draft Eisenhower or Douglas ballyhoo, was sufficiently complete to make it clear that a sitting President can always nominate himself. This has been demonstrated so often in our history that it ought to be plain now even to the second-rate amateur politicians who tried to throw Mr. Truman out of the ring a year ago.

NOTWITHSTANDING this, the general belief among Democratic politicians is that he definitely has made up his mind not to be a candidate. This accounts for the number of more or less notable citizens obviously afflicted with an acute desire for the 1952 nomination. Coy as they may be, most of them are being well advertised by their friends as presidential candidates and none can be called uncooperative. One among these is the windy and aggressive, not to say pushing, Chester Bowles, now Governor of Connecticut, once director of the OPA and a very loudly professing "liberal" indeed. Another is the more modest and attractive Alvin Stevenson, Governor of Illinois, also a "liberal" though not so loud a one. He carried his State last year by an unprecedented majority, pulling Mr. Truman and the rest of the Democratic candidates through, thus contributing greatly to the national success.

HOWEVER, the two generally regarded as most formidable are Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and Supreme Court Justice W. O. Douglas. The present pose of these two cagey gentlemen is that the thought of running for the presidency has never entered their minds. But the pose is extremely unconvincing. Take the case of Mr. Johnson. A shrewd politician, he is well aware his only chance of being nominated lies in obtaining Mr. Truman's support. So long as Mr. Johnson remains in the field Mr. Johnson is blocked, and any suspicion of disloyalty to his Chief would be devastating. If and when Mr. Truman eliminates himself, his support still would be Mr. Johnson's first essential. Clearly, there is nothing much he now can do to promote the presidential aspirations most of his friends and all Washington observers are quite sure he cherishes. Nevertheless, in certain ways he seems to behave unmistakably like a candidate.

ONE of these is in the assiduity with which he cultivates selected newspaper and radio commentators. To quote a few of these at small, unadvertised luncheons and dinners he has, in his engaging way, "revealed all." Another is his willingness to address relatively unimportant gatherings at which he has nothing particular to say. An example was his recent address at the Jewish - endowed university, Yeshiva, in New York. On this occasion, Mr. Johnson had no message to impart, no news to present and no great thought to express. His speech was one hundred per cent laudation of the university and the Jewish people—a typical candidate's performance. Though Mr. Douglas's position would seem to require less activity and more aloofness from politics, he is the most open of the nomination seekers. Beginning with his clearly political speech before the CIO convention some months ago, there has been a series of significant happenings, all of which show him in the light of an active aspirant. It is no secret that his colleagues on the Supreme Court so regard him—some of them with sharp disapproval. He has followed his CIO performance with various addresses at places where the presence of a Supreme Court justice is, to say the least, unusual—such, for example, as the recent World Federalists meeting in New York.

A FEW weeks ago it was publicly announced that Mr. Douglas had prepared a booklet containing his collected speeches, and was sending autographed copies to influential Democrats in various parts of the country. Finally, there was his extraordinary dissenting opinion in the Standard Oil case which was widely interpreted as a political appeal. Parts of it did sound like the ranting of an old-time demagogue of the William Jennings Bryan era. It could easily form the basis of a party platform designed to appeal to the gullible masses. In addition, Mr. Douglas's friends of the Americans for Democratic

Action and his ever loyal band of newspaper boosters are working earnestly to keep his name before the public. It is an interesting situation. Except among the ADA and the CIO there is no political support for Mr. Douglas. And, in the country as a whole, there is no discernible public sentiment for him. The 1952 convention is nearly three years off and in that time he might be built into a "great national figure," though not many realistic politicians think so.

BUT he is running and his friends are working with that end in view. Some feel the Douglas candidacy degrades the Supreme Court and violates its best traditions; but his friends regard that as just old-fashioned. One thing about his candidacy seems fairly sure—perhaps he can get along without it but it is highly improbable he will ever get any support from Mr. Truman. Last year, when the odds were heavily against his election, Mr. Douglas turned down a personal request to run on the ticket with him. That is not the sort of thing Mr. Truman forgets. Or any other man, for that matter.

VOLTZ PLAYERS EASILY SUBDUE THE EDEGLY NINE

The Voltz-Texaco team, which finished the first half in a deadlock for first place, slam-banged the Edgely A. C. into submission last evening as the second half race of the Bristol Suburban League got under way. Score of the tilt, played on Memorial Park field, was 10-4.

The Voltz-men had a total of 19 hits off "Al" Foster and "Jake" Accardi with Alex Dewnap leading the batters with three out of four. Higgs Saxton was the starting hurler for the gasmen and when he began to weaken in the third was replaced with Paul Leighton. Leighton was given credit for the win.

After "Easy" Mama had drilled a hit to left to score Ralph Linck and Joe Elmer to give Edgely a 2-0 lead, Voltz-Texaco came back to score a quintet of markers on walks to Morrell and Dave Ludwig and Dewnap's infield single, and "Sid" Purcell's double. The latter's blow cleaned the bases. Pappaterra followed with a hit and Purcell scored on an infield play. Cross's fly to Adams scored Pappaterra.

Dave Morrell walked and stole second and scored on Dewnap's hit in the second, while the others scored again in the third when Barney Ludwig got on via an error. Another error enabled Ludwig to score.

Edgely got a run back in the third as Elmer got on via an error, advanced on a wild pitch after Mama walked and counted on Felkner's slow roller to first which was beat out for a base hit.

The Edgelyites scored again in the fourth but Voltz sewed up the game by a run in the sixth and two more in the seventh.

MOOSE WIN
Bristol Moose won over Coatesville Moose in a softball game on Sunday. Score was 9-2. Bristol needs the next two games to win the first half.

"JACK" HAINES RAPS OUT 2 HOME-RUNS

"Jackie" Haines rapped out two home runs last evening as West Bristol A. C. won its first game of the second half of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League, downing the Lewis Lodge of Eiks, 12-7, on the Bristol Township field.

Haines' first four-bagger came with two runners on base in the second inning, while his second homer came in the fifth with Heath on base. The West Bristol first-sacker also had a single to his credit and scored three runs, making him responsible for one-half of the winners runs.

"Mike" Rice did the pitching chores for West Bristol and with the comfortable lead built up in the first two innings by his mates had easy sailing for the seven innings.

Adams, Pollard and Leighton hurried for the losing team with Adams being charged with the loss.

1st-Half Championship To Be Decided Tonight

West Bristol A. C. and Voltz-Texaco will clash this evening on the Third Ward field to decide the first half championship of the Bristol Suburban League. Game will begin at six o'clock.

West Bristol and Voltz finished the first half in a deadlock, each having won eight and lost two. West Bristol had a chance to clinch the first half crown if it had beaten Flannery's Eagles. But the Pennell boys tied the leaders twice and then beat them to tie the race.

Earl Wagner has been selected by "Jim" Ellis to do the pitching for West Bristol, while it is most likely that "Bill" McGerr will do the mound work for Voltz. The remainder of the lineups will be the same.

FLANNERY'S OPENS 2ND HALF WITH WIN

Flannery's Eagles, of Pennell, opened their second half schedule of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League with a 9-7 triumph over the Hibernians last evening on Leedon's field.

Flannery's won the game in the last half of the seventh inning after Jack Walker had deadlocked the score with a home run in the top half of the frame. Dick Lukens started the Flannery rally by working Joe McDevitt for a pass. He stole second and went to third when Dale Miller lifted a fly to "Chuck" Kline. "Tommy" Purcell's single to left scored Lukens.

To make victory certain, the Eagles added another marker in the eighth. "Frankie" Purcell opened with a grounder which Dolan fumbled. The runner stole second and went to third on "Clint" Purcell's fly to Kline. "Jim" Egli plastered a two-bagger to left and Frank Purcell came home.

Both pitchers, Joe McDevitt and Dale Miller, went the distance. Miller gave up nine hits, while McDevitt was touched for 12. Tommy Purcell led the batters with three out of five.
